A prostitute wakes up one morning to discover that her boyfriend has tattooed obscene messages all over her body; a woman hesitantly goes back to her new boyfriend's flat, only to find it packed with toy soldiers and intricately reconstructed war scenes; a retired pilot flaunts his wealth by keeping pets in the lap of luxury. Whether evading the expectations of adult life or finding themselves drawn to people by whom they're simultaneously repulsed, the characters in this compilation hold a mirror up to the peculiar failings of masculinity. But as they carouse, argue, philosophize, and binge their way through the streets of Prague, they also offer the reader stark moments of insight and pathos.

As a student exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library in order to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just minor students that has reading's heart or real their interest. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this On Flying Objects can make you really feel more interested to read.
