The book is based on West German experience from 1973 when a concerted programme examining alternative grazing enterprises for dairy farmers was initiated. It offers a wide range of insights into the behaviour, nutrition, diseases and marketing of deer, of interest to all deer farmers. A short chapter deals with German experience with red deer, but the bulk of the chapters on housing, feeding, breeding and finance focus on fallow deer which Gunter Reinken and his colleagues believe to offer the greatest potential for the development of deer farming. Deer farming includes an appendix on German legislation affecting deer farming as well as information on the market for venison. Wider insights into the West German attitude to agriculture are offered throughout the book (book description provided courtesy of seller keymedia)
