Resilient Nations the Resilience Trilogy Robert F. Dees

Resilient Nations completes The Resilience Trilogy, addressing the reality that nation states have a Spiritual Infrastructure that largely determines their ability to bounce back from national challenges and calamities. After discussing principles for all nations, Resilient Nations quickly focuses on the United States of America. How resilient have we been as a nation? Where do we stand now? Does America's Spiritual Infrastructure continue to be strong, presaging readiness and resilience for future challenges? Resilient Nations validates that America is nearing a point of no return. What can we do to reverse course before it is too late? Major General Bob Dees, U.S. Army, Retired, has lived U.S. National Security around the globe, as well as in the homeland. From his careers in the military, business, non-profit leadership, higher education, and as a nationally recognized resilience consultant, General Dees provides the information and the inspiration needed by all Americans to ensure Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness for future generations. After in-depth discussion of American Resilience and Spiritual Infrastructure of past and present, Resilient Nations provides mandates for "We the People," "We the Church," and "We the Statesmen." The battle is raging. Who will join this fight for the very heart, soul, and character of America? If not us, then who? If not now, then when? If God be for us, then who can be against us?
